EARLY ENDING AT RRSA - The Governor has requested volunteer closing of all New Mexico ski areas and in the interest of public health and safety the Red River Ski and Summer Area has made the decision to comply. See page 3 for details.
Hops Happening

Sharon Calhoun, co-owner and office manager, presents a check in the amount of $728 from the Red River Brewing Company & Distillery to Red River/Wheeler Peak Fire Chief Deke Willis representing the Enchanted Circle Regional Fire Protection Association (ECRFPA).

The check was the result of the February Hops for Happiness program of the RRBC, which saw $1 for every sale of Catskinner IPA during February going to the ECRFPA.

Each month a different group is chosen to benefit from the sale of a specified brew of the month.

The restaurant and bar will maintain regular hours seven days a week during off-season.

EF Open On Bobcat Pass

The Enchanted Forest Cross Country Ski & Snowshoe Area’s latest update at Miner press time (Sunday, March 15) says that the ski area will remain open an extra week, through March 29.

The snow on the forest trails is excellent, with the addition of 5” Friday the 13th and more in the forecast this week.

This coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be “Dog Days.” Ski on any trail with your favorite four-legged K-9 friend!

Call EFXC for information or reservations at 575-754-6112.

From Der Markt

Der Markt Food Store will remain open daily, with no changes in operation through Tuesday, March 24. Beginning Wednesday, March 25, the store will close off access through the front doors on Main Street for a scheduled remodel of the front of the building. We will remain open for business during the 10 days that the front doors will be blocked off. During this time we will have access to the store through the rear delivery doors. Your shopping experience will remain the same except for how you come in and leave the store.

As everyone is aware there are shortages of certain items and as the public continues to hoard this will continue to be the case. We are ordering as usual, but we are on allocation just as retailers across the country are. We will do our best to stock the store as we have in the past, but we hope you will understand the challenges we face. During the 10-day partial closure we will operate under reduced hours and those exact times will be posted as we proceed through this next week.

It is our sincere goal to be here for our community as we have been for the past sixty years.

Ted and Linda Calhoun, Der Markt Food Store

FYI

In the category of heads-up for locals, the Red River Conference Center has suspended Community Use at the downtown facility until further notice.

The Office of Tourism and the Red River Chamber of Commerce Office located in the Center are currently planning to maintain regular hours.

Mary Lamb

Mary Ellen Dolan Lamb, 87, a lifelong resident of Red River, NM went home to our Lord on March 7, 2020. A memorial service was held at the Red River Community House on Saturday, March 14th at 1 pm, officiated by Pastor Rick Lamb. Burial was at the Red River Cemetery.

Mary was born on June 15, 1932, to Rudolph William Dolan and Mary EixBea Settie Cala Dona Burt, near Nowata, Oklahoma. She was named after her two aunts, Mary Alice Matlock and Anise Ellen Burt and had four brothers and four sisters. She was a bright child and started elementary school at 5 years old. She moved with her family to Big Spring, Texas in 1942. Mary gave her life over to Jesus Christ at the age of 11 and sought to follow Jesus and honor Him all of her life.

Mary married Paschall Waters Lamb of Big Spring, Texas, in Lovington, New Mexico, on February 21, 1950. She was 17, and he was 19. At the time of her death, they had been married for 70 years and two weeks. Mary and Pat worked as sharecroppers for one season and nearly starved. They moved into the city of Big Spring to take jobs. She and Pat made a life in Big Spring of family, work and church. She was an active member of East 4th Street Baptist Church. She worked at the State National Bank and then First National Bank, educating herself in accounting and bookkeeping. Mary and Pat had three sons, Rick, Dan, and Larry.

In the early 1960s, Mary and Pat longed for a different way of life. They visited Red River, New Mexico, during the summers to attend square dances at the Red River Community House and to enjoy the cool, mountain air.

In 1963, Pat and Mary purchased the Three Canyon Camp and moved to Red River. They renamed the camp Lonesome Pine Lodge, for the large pine tree on the property. The days of renting and cleaning rooms and doing laundry contrasted sharply with the high-heeled days of banking, but Mary embraced Red River and New Mexico whole-heartedly. She ran the lodge, worked at the Red River Ski Area, selling tickets and working in the retail shop, while raising her sons.

Health, Well-Being Top Priority

Update from the Town of Red River

The Governor has requested voluntary closure of all New Mexico ski areas. Red River Ski and Summer Area today took the proactive step to close for the remainder of the 2019-2020 ski season effective 4:00 pm Sunday, March 15, to help prevent COVID-19 spread.

We know this will affect our local businesses and our guests that had planned to spend their spring break with us. We are working with all our businesses to keep updated hours of operations and any closures. Our number one priority is the health and safety of our community and our guests. We are requesting our travelers to consider postponing any current travel plans to Red River at this time. We understand the hardship this is putting on businesses and guests, but for everyone’s safety, we need to be respectful of current restrictions in place. Please be considerate of this fluid situation and we will do our best to keep everyone updated. Red River is a strong community and we will weather this storm together. Be kind, be safe and wash your hands. –Linda Calhoun, Mayor

Red River Ski & Summer Area Guests, Staff, & Family

At the request of New Mexico Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham we are choosing to close for the 2019-2020 winter season effective end of business day Sunday, March 15. We fully support our Governor in this request and believe this socially responsible decision is in the best interests of the health of our guests, community and staff.

Our staff will reach out to all guests who have reservations past the new closing date. Credit or refunds will be given to all those with reservations. If you have questions or concerns with the process, please contact our guest service staff.

Having grown up, and being a current resident of Red River, I fully understand the impact that the Red River Ski & Summer Area has on the local community. I want everyone to understand that this decision was not easy to make given its economic impact. My concern for the health of our community outweighs the impact we may face economically. Doing our part to make this proactive decision of helping prevent the spread of Covid-19 is of the utmost importance to me.

I am sad about this sudden and disappointing end to the season, however, we’re all in this together. Thank you all for the wonderful season we’ve had to this point. Until then stay safe.

Linton Judycki, President & General Manager

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF L.J. CRAZYFOXX

THIS & THAT:
A CURMUDGEON LISTENS AS THE ROBIN SINGS

It is indeed that time when all good curmudgeons (even those in training) emerge from their seasonal lairs and burrows to see their shadow and return to dozing or behold the glory of an overcast sky and sally forth to see what has transpired during their long winters nap.

For me, it is also the time to prepare for my annual sojourn to the Enchanted Castle in Las Vegas NM and watch the Final Four with the other temporary dwellers of the Enchanted Castle, make Play-Doh dioramas of historic New Mexico events and eat green chili Jello.

#1. I saw the first robin of spring at my house last week. It was Tuesday, March 10, to be exact. His name, as always, is Bob. He was looking for something to eat and seemed to be enjoying the weather which was not freezing.

I doubt he found many worms, since the snowpack is still the order of the day in my yard. Then again, Bob may be an excellent hunter when it comes to survival. His song was melodic and joyful, filling my heart and soul with the spirit of renewal that always happens this time of year. Who teaches the birds to sing? No one. Perhaps he’s a loner, a genuine believer in the ancient Early-bird/Worm adage.

Perhaps he is only the advance scout for the rest of the flock which may be waiting down the trail. There is always the possibility that he is lost or taking a sightseeing side trip as he wings his way up the Rio Grande flyway. He may have been told to stop by and enjoy the beauty of the Red River Valley and the small town nestled beside the cold and ever-flowing Rio Colorado (Red River).

I have tried to communicate with birds all my life and have had some success with ravens, cardinals, and parakeets. I’ve even had an interesting encounter with a small winged mother who needed help rescuing her baby.

I have never, however, found robins interested in making conversation with me, even if I’m not wearing a hat.

#2 Wait! I’ve just been told that there is no Final Four this year on TV or on my satellite radio in the car.

I’m told there is only reruns of past battles for bragging rights and college hoop glory for the magic Jayhawks and humiliation for... Well, I guess a lot of things have happened since the New Year came in like a hungry, grouchy bear and soiled the world with Mother Nature’s traveling reminder that she does rule the planet, no matter who thinks otherwise.

I have also been told to wash my hands a lot and stay in my domicile and pretend I don’t want to see people. Problem with that is I DO want to see folks, but perhaps I’ll wait a while until I hear the All Clear signal.

Like the great old Johnny Mercer/Rube Bloom song “Fools Rush In”, wise men never rush in unless there is lots of toilet paper for sale.

I have a hunch that maybe the All Clear will be a bell like the subscribers’ bell on YouTube videos.

I’m sure there are YouTube videos that can fill me in on what is going on in the world.

YouTube has videos about nearly everything, from putting new headlights on your old car to finding pirate treasure in the sinkholes that seem to be so plentiful in Florida.

Personal note to friends who are now living in the Sunshine State for the winter: Watch out for the sinkholes, potholes and old abandoned well shafts that may or may not have been covered by a piece of ancient rotting plywood.

I forgot: watch out for gators.

#3. I plan on seeing – you in May, good Lord willin’ and the creek don’t rise.

LOOKING AHEAD TO SUMMER COUNCIL OKAYS AD MONEY

During a special meeting at the Red River Conference Center on Tuesday, March 10, the Red River Town Council authorized an expenditure of $5,000 dollars for use by Taos Air.

“We’ll be in their in-flight magazine so what we consider the money to be is advertising,” according to Red River Mayor Linda Calhoun.

“The (Red River) Ski Area is not going to commit yet because it’s for the summer.”

The virtual carrier which is owned by Taos Ski Valley, Inc. operates seasonal scheduled public air charter service between Taos Regional Airport in Taos, New Mexico and airports in Dallas and Austin, Texas, as well as Southern California. The company began service during the 2018–2019 winter season. Summer service in 2019 was planned and the Taos County Board of Commissioners and the Town of Taos voted to give Taos Air grants totaling $850,000.

Taos Air also sought money from Red River. At that time the Red River Town Council authorized $19,000, while the Red River Chamber of Commerce committed $1,000. The 2019 Summer schedule was canceled, with the lack of available aircraft and pilots cited as the reason. The $20,000 from Red River “wasn’t used.”

The 2020 Taos Air proposal to Red River presented at the regular February Council meeting was for $50,000. They needed to know about the money by March 10, “so we had a special meeting,” said Mayor Calhoun.

“We’re a little concerned with everything that is going on, so we are being cautious. We notified them Tuesday after the meeting and we haven’t heard back from them.

“I’m sure they aren’t thrilled with the amount we’re giving, but when we look at the numbers...

“We support the service 100%. We think it’s a wonderful service. We just need to see a little more return before we put more money into it, plus we don’t know what is going to happen this summer.”

The major says that the Town has no plans for transportation to or from the airport but that “there are one or two rental car places in Taos.

“We have a huge drive market, lots of families so I don’t know how many will be utilizing it but I still think it’s a great service, a great resource for us and I want to watch it grow. As it grows, maybe we can commit more to it.”

Red River Real Estate, a vacation rental and professional property management company located on E. Main Street, is currently offering a free shuttle service to their guests flying in/out of Taos Regional Airport.

The airport is owned by the Town of Taos and has seen flight service by several commuter airline services dating back to the mid-1970s.

Located at 7,094.6 ft, the original runway is listed as 5,798 ft. It was joined by a cross-wind runway (8,600 ft) added to the facility in 2017 following a sometimes controversial 30 year process.
FOOD FOR THOUGHT

PHYLLIS STOKES’ BREAD PUDDING

Phyllis Stokes was a food blogger who also was into conservation, gardening and being green, green, green! She passed away in mid-January and she will be missed by her any fans.

INGREDIENTS:
- A loaf of French bread stale or dried in low oven
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 tsp vanilla
- 1/8 tsp mace
- 1/8 tsp nutmeg
- Dash of salt
- 1 stick butter, melted and cooled
- 1/4 cup light rum
- 1 cup golden raisins
- 1 quart half and half

SAUCE:
- 3 Tbsp butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 Tbsp cornstarch
- 1 cup whole milk
- 1/4 cup light rum
- 1 tsp molasses

DIRECTIONS:
Preheat oven to 300 degrees.
Cut bread into cubes...6 cups.
In a large bowl whisk the four eggs well.
Whisk in sugar, vanilla, mace, nutmeg and salt.
Add melted butter and rum and whisk well.
Stir in half and half until completely combined.
Stir in the raisins and bread cubes.
Press bread down with a plate or another bowl for about 20 minutes.
Scrape into a buttered 9x13 inch baking dish.
Bake for 1 1/2 hours, lightly covered with foil.
Remove foil and bake another 15 minutes.
Remove from oven. Pudding will deflate as it cools.

SAUCE:
Melt butter.
Whisk half together flour and cornstarch in a bowl.
Add half and half:
Stir in flour and sugar.
Keep at a boil, stirring constantly, until it thickens.
Stir molasses into rum and pour into sauce mix.
Continue boiling until the “raw” rum taste is gone.

NOTES: This is very sweet. Next time I make it I’ll use more bread and less sugar!

Alyce Lindberg Densow

“Approximately one-half of Sweden’s population immigrated to America in the 1800s.” That was before the Industrial Revolution came to Sweden (1920s) and Reform, making lords and barons and peasants equal. Plus nationalized medicine for all and many other goodies, plus child care. And the King and Queen were allowed to ride bicycles anywhere they pleased, which caused snickering in England. But you know how the British are.

When I see what’s happening with immigrant families trying to find asylum in America today, I’m really glad my people came to the USA around 125 years ago. If they were trying to get in today, we’d be in Big Trouble. I kinda wish they’d waited a few more years (1920s) because I really like the way they have lived ever since Industrial Revolution and Reform. The country’s known all over for being more democratic than the democracies, while still supporting a King and Queen. (It just tickles me.) But what were they going to do with all the castles, knights’ gear, costuming and golden carriages, et cetera, stored in those castles?? Good choice, I say.

Of course, my family being Swedish, Northern Europeans – light skin, fair hair, blue eyes, with some darkness thrown in from those Viking sojourns down to the Moors – we fit right in here in good old America.

Although President Trump, who recently entertained a visit from Norway’s female prime minister, then complained, “Why can’t we get Norwegian immigrants?”, probably hasn’t heard of the International Research Team’s researching the top countries in the world each year, delegating America #19, while Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland are ALWAYS in the top five. They might have to fight off an influx of Americans soon!

If you think this makes me feel snarky, don’t. I want to be proud of America, a genuine voting citizen in good standing, now that we’ve lost that sibilant Scandinavian accent. The closest I ever got in trouble with the law is the time I was driving too fast over there near Cimarron. The state patrol man was very kind, gave me a warning since I’d never had any problem before.

I think it was because I was a little old lady and apologized for yakking with a friend and not paying attention. I’m still a little old lady, just an older one now. I mean, unfortunately, you don’t get younger, although Botox and lying about your age helps, as Lucille Ball said.

But I digress. When I was growing up I was pretty well brainwashed by my Swedish-American relatives to be an exemplary citizen, vote, revere the flag and generally behave myself – like never driving on a side walk, leaving a campfire unattended – or taking somebody’s bubble gum like that ratty Norwegian-American Sunshine Olssen, who stole mine from my coat pocket.

Cloak room – sounds like a place where knights hung their clothes – or Superman left a garment. And in Grade Three that was all the cash I had for bubble gum for a Whole Week. I earned that picking potato bugs off the cash potato crop Grandfather was nurturing for money for winter for sugar, coffee, flour and other items we couldn’t raise on the farm.

That ratty kid never got punished. And I never left anything in my pockets again. Sniffle, sniffle, it was grape bubble gum, my all-time favorite.

Meanwhile, the UN is criticizing America for separating little immigrant kids from their parents. It just makes you cringe to think of it. The median salary for many South American countries is $3,600 a year (A Year!), in Mexico no better. The USA has withdrawn from the International Human Rights Council because of “hypocrisy,” et cetera, and the world is going to Hades in a hand basket.

Does anybody out there care?

And who do you think, esteemed leaders of America in Washington, DC, will pick our cotton, grapes, corn, and all those other cash crops grown so prolifically over our vast country, when there are no more “alien immigrants” to do that back-breaking work?? Those are not the jobs some Americans are complaining about being “taken away” from them. It was proven a few years ago when a southern state banned working immigrants and locals had to pick the grapes. At noon the Americans all disappeared and a lot of grapes rotted on the vine.

It is our Constitutional Right to have grapes (and grape bubble gum). If there is no one to save our crops, then, should not our “fathers” in DC be out there in those fields saving us from famine, led by the kindliest “father” of all, The President? Check your polling place for time and date to vote on this Constitutional Issue.

I crusaded for the rights of “alien immigrants” in Wisconsin, before I gave up newspapering and moved to Red River, New Mexico, vacation capital of the Southwest. Do I have to come out of retirement and go through it all over again?? Talk about re-inventing The Wheel. PS – And who will clean your hotels, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera???

Like a lot of people in Red River, Mary worked at a lot of jobs in the early years: the Riverside Lodge, the Red River Swimming Pool and Café, and the Moly Mine. She learned to ski (downhill and cross country) and snowmobiled with Pat. Mary was very involved in the community, serving on the board of the Red River Community House for nearly 18 years, as well as the Chamber of Commerce and Beautification committees, and she was a founding member of the Red River Women’s Club. She supported the ministry of Questa Baptist Church, Faith Mountain Fellowship Church, and the First Baptist Church of Red River. She was an advocate of education for Red River and her children, sending them to Questa Schools and driving them to Cimarron and Taos schools, always looking for the best educational opportunities.

She started All Seasons in 1967 with a partner and opened the first fine art gallery in Red River, carrying high quality sculptures and paintings. Very quickly, she learned to expand into other gifts and collectibles. Mary soon bought out her partner, and she and Pat added ski rental and snowmobile rental and sales to the business in 1968. She loved working in her stores and developed deep, lasting relationships with her customers, who came back year after year to see Ms. Mary. For a brief time, in 1989, Mary and Pat returned to Big Spring, Texas, but missed the mountains and their “home,” so they returned to Red River to rebuild All Seasons, Inc. In later years, low oxygen levels forced them to leave their mountain home and move near family in Corsicana, Texas, where she resided until her death. Mary was joyful, deeply connected to Jesus Christ, supportive, and kind. In her later years, when dementia robbed her of health and memory, she held on with determination to her Savior. She would often say, “I don’t want to miss the Kingdom of Heaven.” She didn’t.

Mary is preceded in death by her parents, four brothers and one sister. She is survived by three sisters, her husband, Pat Lamb, three sons, Rick, and wife Becky Lamb, Dan Lamb, Larry and wife Sapna Lamb, seven grandchildren, eight great grandchildren, cousins, nieces, nephews and a lifetime of customers and friends. The Lamb family wishes to express their gratitude to the many people who have expressed love and concern to them in the past few years.

It is suggested that memorial donations be made to the Town of Red River Beautification Fund.

Journey of Pharaohs
Clive Cussler

In 1074 B.C., vast treasures disappear from the tombs of Egyptian Pharaohs. In 1927, a daredevil American aviator vanishes on an attempted transcontinental flight. And in the present day, a fishing trawler—with its mysterious cargo—sinks off the coast of Scotland. How are these three mysterious events connected? And, more importantly, what do they mean for Kurt Austin and his NUMA team?

As they search for answers, the NUMA squad join the agents of the British MI5 to take on a wide-reaching international conspiracy. Their common enemy is the Bloodstone Group, a conglomerate of arms dealers and thieves attempting to steal ancient relics on both sides of the Atlantic. Kurt and his team soon find themselves wrapped up in a treacherous treasure hunt as they race to find the lost Egyptian riches... before they fall into the wrong hands.

Reasonable Doubt
Phillip Margolin

Robin Lockwood is a young criminal defense attorney and partner in a prominent law firm in Portland, Oregon. A former MMA fighter and Yale Law graduate, she joined the firm of legal legend Regina Barrister not long before Regina was forced into retirement by early onset Alzheimer’s.

One of Regina’s former clients, Robert Chesterfield, shows up in the law office with an odd request—he’s seeking help from his old attorney in acquiring patent protection for an illusion. Chesterfield is a professional magician of some renown and he has a major new trick he’s about to debut. This is out of the scope of the law firm’s expertise, but when Robin Lockwood looks into his previous relationship with the firm, she learns that twenty years ago he was arrested for two murders, one attempted murder, and was involved in the potentially suspicious death of his very rich wife. At the time, Regina Barrister defended him with ease, after which he resumed his career as a magician in Las Vegas.

Now, decades later, he debuts his new trick—only to disappear at the end. He’s a man with more than one dark past and many enemies. Is his disappearance tied to one of the many people who have good reason to hate him? Was he killed and his body disposed of, or did he use his considerable skills to engineer his own disappearance?

Robin Lockwood must unravel the tangled skein of murder and bloody mischief to learn how it all ties together.
